SECTION A

(Reading)

20 Marks

1. Read the passage given below :

12

- (1) Once upon a time, in the enchanting kingdom of Avaloria, there lived a young girl named Eliza. Eliza was known for her kind heart and adventurous spirit. She lived with her loving parents, King Edward and Queen Isabelle, in a grand castle overlooking the serene Avalorian countryside.
- (2) From a very young age, Eliza was captivated by stories of brave knights and magical creatures. She spent her days immersed in the castle library, devouring every book she could find. These stories ignited a fire inside her, filling her with a burning desire for her own adventures.
- (3) One sunny morning, as Eliza explored the castle gardens, she stumbled upon a small hidden door at the base of a grand oak tree. Curiosity piqued, she decided to go through the door and see where it led. To her amazement, she found herself in a vast, enchanted forest, far beyond the castle walls.
- (4) As Eliza walked deeper into the forest, she came across a wise old owl perched on a branch. The owl introduced itself as Orville and explained that it had been waiting for her. It told Eliza of a prophecy that foretold her destined journey to save Avaloria from an ancient curse. Intrigued, Eliza listened to Orville's words, her eyes shining with determination. She was eager to prove herself and fulfil her destiny. Orville presented her with a map, detailing the locations she must venture to in order to break the curse.

- (5) With a newfound sense of purpose, Eliza returned to the castle and bid her parents farewell. King Edward and Queen Isabelle offered their blessings and support, knowing that their daughter possessed the courage and strength to face any challenges that lay ahead. Eliza's first destination was the Whispering Woods, a dense forest known for its magical whispers that could reveal hidden truths. As she entered the forest, she heard the gentle rustling of leaves and whispered voices that guided her along the path.
- (6) Eliza's next challenge awaited her at the Crystal Caves, where she would need to retrieve a sacred crystal that held the power to break the curse. The Crystal Caves were renowned for their intricate maze of tunnels and shimmering crystals that bathed the caverns in an ethereal glow.
- (7) Navigating through the labyrinthine caves, Eliza relied on her wit and intuition to choose the right paths. At one point, she encountered a riddle-guardian, a creature made of living stone that posed a riddle for her to solve. With her sharp mind and quick thinking, Eliza correctly answered the riddle and earned the creature's respect.
- (8) After acquiring the sacred crystal, Eliza's journey led her to the mystical Fire Peaks, a range of towering volcanoes believed to hold the ancient flame of Avaloria. It was said that only those who possessed the purest heart could harness the power of the flame to banish the curse. Ascending the treacherous peaks, Eliza faced roaring infernos, molten lava, and scorching winds. She fought against her fear to reach the heart of the Fire Peaks, where the eternal flame flickered and danced. With a deep breath, Eliza focused her mind and channelled her inner strength to collect a spark from the flame.

- (9) Eliza's final destination led her to the mystical Lake of Tranquility, a shimmering body of water hidden deep within an ancient forest. Legend had it that the lake possessed extraordinary healing powers capable of lifting the curse. With great anticipation, Eliza approached the tranquil waters. She submerged the sacred crystal and the spark from the eternal flame into the lake. As ripples spread across the surface, a blinding light erupted from the water, illuminating the entire forest.
- (10) As the light faded, Eliza found herself back in the castle gardens, standing before her parents. Her journey had come a full circle, and she felt a profound sense of accomplishment and peace. The curse that plagued Avaloria had been broken, thanks to Eliza's unwavering determination and bravery. The kingdom rejoiced, celebrating the young girl who had restored their land to its former glory.

One lesson, Nature, let me learn of thee,
One lesson that in every wind is blown,
One lesson of two duties, serv'd in one
Though the loud world proclaim their enmity;
Of Toil unsever'd from Tranquility: (5)
Of Labour, that in still advance outgrows
Far noisier schemes, accomplish'd in Repose,
Too great for haste, too high for rivalry.
Yes, while on earth a thousand discords ring,
Man's senseless uproar mingling with his toil, (10)
Still do thy sleepless ministers move on,
Their glorious tasks in silence perfecting:
Still working, blaming still our vain turmoil;
Labourers that shall not fail, when man is gone. (14)

Recreational facilities for the public

In a rapidly urbanizing world, the need for accessible and well-designed recreational facilities has become increasingly crucial. Gunkoor, a mid-sized city, reveals the city's efforts to address this challenge.

The city's parks department, in collaboration with the urban planning office, conducted a comprehensive assessment of the existing recreational infrastructure. They identified gaps in coverage, underutilized spaces, and the need for diverse activities to cater to the community's diverse needs.

Based on the findings, the city developed a strategic plan to enhance and expand its recreational offerings. This included the renovation of existing parks, the creation of new neighborhood-level playgrounds, and the establishment of a network of walking and cycling trails connecting various parts of the city.

The project also involved the repurposing of abandoned industrial spaces into vibrant community hubs, complete with sports facilities, community gardens, and event spaces. The city's commitment to inclusive design and accessibility ensured that these facilities were welcoming to people of all ages and abilities.

The success of this initiative has been evident in the increased usage of the facilities, the positive feedback from the citizens, and the overall improvement in the city's livability and public health.

Stand still and I will read to thee
A Lecture, Love, in loves philosophy,
 These three hours that we have spent,
 Walking here, Two shadowes went
 Along with us, which we our selves produc'd;
But, now the Sunne is just above our head,
 We doe those shadowes tread;
 And to brave clearnesse all things are reduc'd.

So whilst our infant loves did grow,
Disguises did, and shadowes, flow,
From us, and our cares; but now 'tis not so.

That love hath not attain'd the high'st degree,
Which is still diligent lest others see.
Except our loves at this noone stay,
We shall new shadowes make the other way.

As the first were made to blinde
Others; these which come behind
Will worke upon our selves, and blind our eyes.
If our loves faint, and westwardly decline;
To me thou, falsely thine;
And I to thee mine actions shall disguise.

The morning shadowes were away,
But these grow longer all the day,
But oh, loves day is short, if love decay.

Love is a growing, or full constant light;
And his first minute, after noone, is night.

(A Lecture Upon the Shadow)

Trees

The Trees like Tassels hit – and – swung –

There seemed to rise a Tune

From Miniature Creatures

Accompanying the Sun –

Far Psalteries of Summer –

Enamoring the Ear

They never yet did satisfy –

Remotest – when most fair

The Sun shone whole at intervals –

Then Half – then utter hid –

As if Himself were optional

And had Estates of Cloud

Sufficient to enfold Him

Eternally from view –

Except it were a whim of His

To let the Orchards grow –

A Bird sat careless on the fence –

One gossiped in the Lane

On silver matters charmed a Snake

Just winding round a Stone
